Hi Matt,

Thanks for reaching out with your proposal. We don't agree with it. A conference with the Court to discuss summary judgment briefing probably makes sense. Please let us know your thoughts on that.

Best,
David

Counsel,

Following up on my call with David earlier today, Defendants intend to move for an order on page allowances for Defendants' planned summary judgment motions. We would like to file a joint agreed motion and suggest the following proposal:

Opening Briefs: Defendants receive 100 pages for briefing and 50 pages for statements of material fact, to be split among Defendants as they choose. We currently anticipate filing a joint brief on behalf of all Defendants in excess of 20 pages, with separate motions/briefs/statements on individual issues impacting individual defendants.

Responsive Briefs: Plaintiffs receive 100 pages for briefing and 25 pages for any additional statements of material fact (i.e. facts beyond those in response to Defendants' facts), to be split across briefs as Plaintiffs choose.

Reply Briefs: Defendants receive 50 pages for reply briefs, to be split among briefs as Defendants choose.

I'm generally available early next week to discuss and look forward to your response.

Matt
